Skanska Promotes Mark Maloney to Senior Vice President at Philadelphia Metro Office

PHILADELPHIA, PA – Skanska USA Building Inc. announced today that Mark Maloney has been promoted to Senior Vice President at its Philadelphia metro office.

A 33-year industry veteran, including the last 18 with Skanska, Maloney has engineering and construction experience for a variety of large and complex projects including pharmaceutical process facilities, laboratories and office complexes. He is an accomplished leader using the sub-project approach and has completed large process and laboratory projects ranging from $100 to $300 million.

Some of his project highlights include the Abbott Laboratories Humira Manufacturing Facility in Barceloneta, Puerto Rico; the Sanofi Aventis Bridgewater Campus Expansion in Bridgewater, N.J.; and the new Wyeth Corporate Headquarters in Madison, N.J.

In addition to his client work, Maloney leads the employee training program and he chaired the 2008 safety leadership team, both for the Philadelphia office. He also serves on the national committee that oversees the planning and implementation of Skanska's quality program on all projects. Maloney holds a Bachelor of Science in civil engineering from Steven's Institute of Technology.

"Mark has made countless contributions to the company, our office and to our clients' projects throughout metro Philadelphia, the United States and other countries," said Ed Szwarc, Skanska's Philadelphia Area General Manager. "This promotion recognizes his integral role in Skanska's efforts for operational excellence, as well as his outstanding commitment to providing superior service to our clients."
