Skanska Promotes Irick to Northwest Operations Manager

May 1, 2012, Seattle, Wash. – Skanska USA’s civil construction business unit today announced the promotion of Trent Irick to Northwest operations manager. In this role he will lead all construction work and project pursuits for Skanska USA Civil’s Northwest Division.

Based in Skanska’s Seattle office, Irick has more than 17 years of construction experience throughout the western United States. He is well-versed in leading construction operations and has a project portfolio including highways, railroads and marine work. Additionally, he has significant experience with design-build delivery.

“Trent is a seasoned leader who will be a key part of our continued growth in the Northwest,” said Skanska Executive Vice President Mike Aparicio. “Infrastructure needs throughout the west are increasing. Trent’s project and people-leadership expertise will be instrumental to our business.”

A Montana native, Irick now lives in Shoreline, Wash. with his family. He is a graduate of Montana State University where he earned a degree in construction engineering technology.

Skanska USA Civil is under way on several projects in the Pacific Northwest including the S. Holgate to S. King section of the Alaskan Way Viaduct Replacement and a Floating Surface Collector project at Lake Shannon, near Concrete, Wash.
