Skanska Promotes Johnson to Vice President

Durham, N.C. – Skanska USA Building Inc. announced today that it has promoted Dave Johnson to Vice President of Pre-construction Services. In this new role, Johnson will oversee pre-construction work in the Carolinas and Virginia areas and will work with the local leadership team to help continue Skanska's positive momentum.

"With more than 30 years of experience in construction industry, Dave remains an invaluable part of our team," said Steve Stouthamer, Skanska's Area General Manager. "He continuously emphasizes the importance of joint efforts between operations and pre-construction team members in order to satisfy our clients to the fullest."

Johnson joined Skanska in 2004 as a member of the company's pre-construction services group. There, he was responsible for many of Skanska's high profile projects including the University of North Carolina Cancer Hospital, Durham Performing Arts Center and Virginia Commonwealth University's Medical Sciences Building II.

A graduate of West Virginia University, Johnson earned a bachelor's degree in civil engineering. He and his wife, Colleen, live in Raleigh, N.C., with daughters Jennifer, Chrissy and Stacie.
