Skanska builds health center for Gjesdal municipality in Rogaland, Norway, for NOK 360M, about SEK 340M

Skanska has signed a contract with Gjesdal Municipality for the construction of Gjesdal Health Center in Rogaland County, Norway. The contract is worth NOK 360M, about SEK 340M, which will be included in the Nordic order bookings for the second quarter of 2025.

The new health center will have a building mass of approximately 8,700 square meters and will accommodate 76 institutional places, as well as facilities such as a café, institutional kitchen, physiotherapy and occupational therapy, and service areas. Additionally, approximately 2,000 square meters of parking garage will be built, and the project will be connected to an existing residential and activity center.

The project has high climate ambitions and will be environmentally certified according to BREEAM Nor level Excellent. The Skanska-developed energy concept LowEx will be used for heating and cooling.

Construction will commence in September 2025, and the project is scheduled for completion in June 2027.
