

January 14, 2011

Skanska Adds Boylan as a Vice President and Regional Executive

Brings 30 years of experience in design and construction

Boston, M.A. – Skanska USA announced today that it has hired Barbara J. Boylan as a vice president and regional executive where she will be responsible for the firm's advisory services, client relations and growth of the office in New England.

Drawing upon the company's wide array of offerings and services, Boylan will utilize her 30 years of industry experience, which includes construction, permitting, design, and architecture in the public and private sectors, to assist clients with building-related challenges that fall outside typical construction management and general contractor relationships, such as program management and green consulting.

"We are thrilled to have someone with Barbara's experience and knowledge of the local market join our team," said Paul Hewins, executive vice president and general manager for Skanska's New England office. "Our clients will truly benefit from Barbara's expertise in solving some of the industry's most difficult challenges. She has an excellent track record for success in managing some of the region's largest development projects, and we look forward to the immediate impact she will bring to this office."

Boylan most recently served as vice president of design & construction at Boston Global Investors (BGI). During her time there, she worked as a key liaison among federal and state officials, as well as neighborhood civic associations, and was involved in the planning for major local development projects, such as One Franklin Street, a 1.2 million square foot mixed-use landmark tower integrated with an historic renovation of the Filene's building, and Seaport Square, a $3.5 billion project consisting of 6.3 million square feet spanning 23 acres on South Boston's waterfront - the largest undeveloped site in the city of Boston.

Prior to her role at BGI, Boylan served for 12 years as director of design for the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) where she was responsible for design oversight of the $500 million annual capital program that focused on reinvestment in the infrastructure of America's oldest subway while making public transit accessible to all.

Boylan is a member of the American Institute of Architects and serves on the Boston Society of Architects' Ethics Committee. She received her Master's of Science in Architecture Studies from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and earned her Bachelor of Architecture from the University of Notre Dame.

---

For further information please contact:

Beth Miller, Communications Manager, Skanska USA, 917-656-5883,

beth.miller@skanska.com

Jonathan Pappas, 617-933-5011, jpappas@solomonmccown.com

This and previous releases can also be found at www.skanska.com.

Skanska USA is one of the largest, most financially sound construction networks in the country consisting of four business units: Skanska USA Building, which specializes in building construction; Skanska USA Civil, which is focused on civil infrastructure; Skanska Infrastructure Development, which develops public-private partnerships; and, Skanska Commercial Development, which pursues commercial development initiatives in select U.S. markets. Headquartered in New York with 32 offices across the country, Skanska USA has approximately 7,000 employees and its 2009 revenues were $5.7 billion, representing 32 percent of Skanska's global revenues.

Skanska is one of the world's leading project development and construction groups with expertise in construction, development of commercial and residential projects and public-private partnerships. Based on its global green experience, Skanska aims to be the clients' first choice for Green solutions. The Group currently has 49,000 employees in selected home markets in Europe, in the U.S. and Latin America. Headquartered in Stockholm, Sweden, and listed on the Stockholm Stock Exchange, Skanska's sales in 2009 totalled $17.9 billion.