Skanska USA Announces Promotions on the East Coast

New York, NY - Skanska, one of the world's leading construction and project development firms, today announced four promotions:

Sal Taddeo was named chief operating officer overseeing civil construction operations in the east region, which includes New York, New Jersey, Boston, Pittsburgh and Washington, D.C. as well as operations in the southeast and midwest regions. Keith Sabol was promoted to vice president of design-build, overseeing civil operations nationally. Mike Mifsud was promoted to vice president of field operations for the northeast. In addition, Beth Miller was promoted to senior director of communications for the northeast.

Taddeo, who has been with Skanska for 20 years, has a strong record of managing projects with outstanding performance. Most recently as executive vice president of the southeast region, he led record revenue growth and helped win Skanska's first public-private partnership (PPP) projects in U.S. history, Elizabeth River Tunnels and I-4 Ultimate. He also led the company's expansion in Florida opening a new office in Orlando. In his new role, Taddeo will work to ensure a consistent, unified approach to national operations and will promote continuous project execution improvement.

Over the course of his career, Sabol has delivered more than $4 billion worth of design-build projects throughout the U.S. and Canada. Since joining Skanska in 2012, his expert direction has led to improved design-build execution across the regions and improved the interactions between Skanska and design partners. In his new role, Sabol will continue to help raise the company's position as a leader in design-build throughout the construction industry.

A 30-year Skanska veteran, Mifsud has been an integral part of the company's success through his oversight of operations and by bringing cutting-edge innovation to the design-build field. Recognized for his work on rail facilities, in his new role, he will assist and advise on all field operations.

With nearly 15 years of communications experience, six of which at Skanska, Miller has helped build and protect the company's brand on a both a regional and national level. She has worked side-by-side across all departments to launch internal campaigns and employee engagement initiatives as well as to promote Skanska's projects, people and partners in both traditional and social media.
