Skanska Names Bob Celli Regional Procurement Director

DURHAM, N.C. – Skanska USA has hired Bob Celli as Regional Procurement Director for the Southeast. The Wake Forest resident will work in Skanska's Durham office and report to Scott MacLeod, Co-Chief Operating Officer for Skanska USA.

Celli will be responsible for helping projects in Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia transform procurement into a value-added activity for Skanska and its clients.

He joins Skanska from Donley, LLC with an extensive background in purchasing, field operations, project management and engineering. In addition to his recent experience at Donley, Celli spent 25 years with Turner Construction gaining strong procurement knowledge.

“The procurement phase of a project ultimately has a vital impact on the construction phase success while also impacting client satisfaction,” said MacLeod. “We’re confident Bob will bring his extensive knowledge and experience in the field to help identify the best procurement strategies on every one of our projects.”

Celli has bachelor of science degrees in civil and environmental engineering from Clarkson College of Technology in Potsdam, N.Y.
