Skanska to build hospital in Michigan

Skanska has been awarded the construction management and design-build contract for the William Beaumont Hospital project in Troy, Michigan. The contract amount for Skanska is $56 million, and will be included in order bookings for the third quarter. The customer is William Beaumont Hospital.

The project is executed in a joint venture with Barton Malow, where Skanska's stake is 51 percent. It broke ground in June 2007 and is scheduled for completion in October 2010. Earlier work has already been included in Skanska's order bookings.

The multi-phased project comprises 51,800 square meters, including a 20,700 square meter emergency center and critical care tower. It also includes a three-story ambulatory care center, a vertical expansion of the West Tower, loading dock and powerhouse expansion, a 500 square meter addition, and a connector bridge linking the existing main campus to the new ambulatory center on the hospital's east campus.
