Anders Candell new Senior Vice President IT at Skanska AB

Anders Candell is appointed new Senior Vice President IT at Skanska AB as of August 17, 2020.

Anders Candell has an extensive experience from international IT organizations and their role in the creation of business value. Anders joins Skanska from his current role as CIO at Telia Company AB. Prior to this, he served as the CIO at Stora Enso and Tele2, and held several different roles at Outokumpu Oyj.

He will report to Magnus Persson, Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer.

“I would like to welcome Anders to Skanska and I am convinced that with his knowledge and experience, he will have a positive impact on our IT operations. Anders’ experience in leading major, complex IT organizations and ability to connect the IT operation to the business suits Skanska very well”, says Magnus.

“I’m delighted and eager to start my new position at Skanska, which is a well-managed Swedish company with a reputation as a good employer. Given that the technical development currently driving change in all industries with respect to both product and business processes, I believe that I – with my background in both the processing industry and particularly the telecommunications industry – can help Skanska streamline and improve its operations and its customer lifecycle”, says Anders.
